Dear NAPS Members and Conference Participants,

Welcome to the 2022 Annual Meeting of the North American Patristics Society! It is with great pleasure that we once again plan to meet in person, face-to-face, at the Hyatt Regency in Chicago for the first time since 2018. Through the diligent efforts of our Vice President, Andrew Jacobs, a wideranging program has been created that includes a new hybrid format for participants at the meeting. I know you will want to express your gratitude to him and his team of assistants (Rebecca Stephens Falcasantos, David Maldonado Rivera, and Shawn Wilhite) for their many contributions to this massive effort.

Plenary speakers for this year's meeting include Paula Fredriksen (emerita, Boston University; Visiting Professor, Hebrew University in Jerusalem), who will speak on the topic "The Subject Vanishes: Jews, Martyrs and Heretics after the 'Rhetorical Turn'" on Thursday evening. On Saturday morning we are slated to hear from our Immediate Past President, Robin Darling Young (The Catholic University of America), who will present a Presidential Address deferred from 2021: "The Lady Advances: Women Imagined and Actual in Late Antiquity."

This year's program has presented very real challenges as we confront the realities of a world reshaped by the demands of Covid. At the beginning of the pandemic in 2020, the annual meeting of NAPS was cancelled for the first time in Society history and, later, the 2021 program faced a new challenge that has become typical of large gatherings of all professional societies—a virtual program. Happily, this year's meeting is scheduled to include almost 250 in-person presenters and over 30 virtual presenters in addition to plenary and banquet speakers and other celebratory moments. A diverse selection of panels, presentations, and discussion opportunities await all who are able to attend.

We eagerly anticipate this renewed opportunity to celebrate the history of the Society and, more importantly, the research and professional careers of its members and guests. I hope you will be a part of who we are, what we have been in past days, and what we seek to be as a consortium of researchers facing the future of various academic fields of interest. I look forward to sharing our work together. Welcome!

Clayton N. Jefford President, North American Patristics Society

9:00am – 12:00pm - Pre-Conference Workshop

Digital Humanities Workshop: Coptic Scriptorium Project Location: Addams

Chairs: Caroline T. Schroeder, Christine Luckritz-Marquis, Lance Martin, and Rebecca Krawiec

This workshop will provide training in how to use the resources from the Coptic Scriptorium project in your research and also how to publish texts, translations, or annotations with the Coptic Scriptorium Project. By the end of the workshop, participants will have learned how to run basic and complex searches in our database; how to leverage features of the online Coptic Dictionary for research; and how to use our online annotation environment to a) transcribe text to be published online and/or b) add annotations or translations to Coptic texts already online in our public platform. If there is interest, we can also demonstrate how to use our tools to analyze text of your own that is not published online.

This will be a hands-on, interactive workshop with everyone actively participating and "learning as we do."

Some prior experience with the Coptic language is helpful but we welcome participants of all backgrounds. No programming or other technical experience is required. Please bring a laptop to the session. We will also send materials in advance to registrants so that we can utilize the full session time for activities.

Please RSVP here: https://forms.gle/r3skbZxjSN57kxuU6

History of the North American Patristics Society

The North American Patristic Society was founded on December 29, 1970, at a convention of the American Philological Association in New York City. When the first meeting was held, 75 persons attended and heard a program of three papers. The idea for a Society had begun with a conversation between Michael P. McHugh and Robert D. Sider at a meeting of classicists in April 1969. The founders believed that "more effective teaching and research could be carried out in patristics by bringing into one forum scholars in such varied fields as classical philology, theology, church history and ancient history, and philosophy" (McHugh, 1971). In the year following the first meeting, Louis J. Swift drafted a constitution, which was approved by the members at the next meeting of the APA in 1971 at Cincinnati. The first president, Bruce M. Metzger, was elected for the year 1972. In 1973 the Society was incorporated in the state of Kentucky as a non-profit organization.

Through 1980, the Society met each year in late December in conjunction with the APA. In those same years, the Society often held joint sessions with the Medieval Institute in Kalamazoo and with the American Society of Church History in order to expand its presence and seek a suitable home. The beginnings were small. Often only ten or twelve people attended a session. Louis Swift wrote of the early years, "Nobody knew whether we would even survive, let alone flourish."

William R. Schoedel and Louis Swift, in consultation with Joseph F. Kelly, planned the First Independent Conference for Chicago in May 1981. The initial idea was to meet every two years, and the meetings that took place in 1983 and 1985 were called the Biennial Meeting. The first printed program was produced in 1985 by Robert L. Wilken. J. Patout Burns served as the local coordinator at Loyola University Chicago for these meetings, except in Oxford years. In 2002, the Society officially changed its name to The North American Patristics Society, Inc.

The Society's first publication was the newsletter Patristics, first edited by Louis Swift and then successively by Frederick W. Norris, Thomas M. Finn, John J. O'Keefe, and Clayton N. Jefford. Beginning around 1980 the newsletter came to include book reviews with Joseph Kelly and then Michael Slusser serving as book review editors.

In 1986 the Society took over the Patristic Monograph Series. Twelve volumes in the series had been published by the Philadelphia Patristic Foundation in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Mercer University Press was engaged as publisher and brought out four volumes between 1988 and 1997. The first editor was Frederick Norris, who was succeeded by Joseph T. Lienhard in 1993 and thereafter by Philip Rousseau in 2002. In 1999, The Catholic University of America Press became the publisher of the series. In 2008, editorship of the Series passed to David Hunter. In 2011, Christopher Beeley became its editor, and he oversaw the Series' transition from CUA Press to University of California Press in 2014 under the new name Christianity in Late Antiquity. In 2021, Joel Kalvesmaki become the new editor of the series.

In 1993, the Society began the publication of a journal entitled The Journal of Early Christian Studies, edited by Everett Ferguson and Elizabeth Clark. From 1981 to 1992, Ferguson had edited nine volumes of an independent journal called The Second Century: A Journal of Early Christian Studies, which became the foundation of the new JECS. The book review functions of the Patristics newsletter were incorporated into the journal and were directed by Louis Swift. Ultimately, Patout Burns replaced Ferguson as co-editor. Burns himself was succeeded in 2004 by David Brakke, who became sole editor in 2005. Upon completion of David Brakke's term in 2015, NAPS appointed Stephen Shoemaker as the new editor of JECS. The JECS currently has a circulation of around 1500.

In 1997, John O'Keefe created a web page for the organization at www.patristics.org. In 2006, NAPS moved the site of its annual meeting from Loyola University in Chicago to the Holiday Inn Chicago Mart Plaza. In the same year the society instituted its "Lifetime Achievement Award." In 2014, interest and growth in the Society's annual meeting necessitated a move to a larger venue, the Hyatt Regency in Chicago.

International Journal of Apocryphal Literatures

General Editor: F. Amsler, SELAC Print ISSN: 1155-3316 - Online ISSN: 2034-6468

A pocrypha is published with the scholarly assistance of the Association pour l'Étude de la Littérature Apocryphe Chrétienne (AELAC) and the Société pour l'Étude de la Littérature Apocryphe Chrétienne (SELAC). The journal is focused on the treasures of material borne through literature and other expressions of the imagination over two millennia. This material was generated, cultivated and transmitted by numerous Jewish communities and a range of Christian communities throughout Asia, Africa and Europe.

Brill Encyclopedia of Early Christianity Online

The Brill Encyclopedia of Early Christianity Online addresses a range of traditions, including iconographic, martyrological, ecclesiastical, and Christological traditions, as well as cultic phenomena, such as the veneration of saints. The history of the transmission of texts and the attention to recent scholarship will play an important role.

The BEEC focuses on early Christianity from a historical perspective in order to uncover the lasting legacy of the authors and texts until the present day. Its content is intended to bridge the gap between the fields of New Testament studies and patristics, connecting a number of related fields of study including Judaism, ancient history and philosophy, covering the whole period of early Christianity up to 600 CE.

Gnosis: Journal of Gnostic Studies

Scrinium

Journal of Patrology and Critical Hagiography

Gnosis: Journal of Gnostic Studies is a peer-reviewed publication devoted to the study of Gnostic religious currents from the ancient world to the modern, where 'Gnostic' is broadly conceived as a reference to special direct knowledge of the divine, which either transcends or transgresses conventional religious knowledge.

Established in 2005, as an international scholarly periodical devoted to patristics, critical hagiography, and Church history. Its scope is the ancient and medieval Christian Church worldwide, but especially Eastern / Oriental Christianity and Christian Origins.

Vigiliae Christianae

A Review of Early Christian Life and Language

Vigiliae Christianae contains articles and short notes of an historical, cultural, linguistic or philological nature on early Christian literature written after the New Testament, as well as on Christian epigraphy and archaeology.

Church and dogmatic history are dealt with as they relate to social history; Byzantine and medieval literature are treated as far as they exhibit continuity with the early Christian period.

Cult of the Dead

A Brief History of Christianity
KYLE SMITH

"An elegant and enlightening book."—Elizabeth A. Castelli, Professor of Religion, Barnard College at Columbia University

"A sweeping tour through the history of Christianity that makes the familiar seem fresh and vividly brings to life the remarkable connections across time and space that constitute the Christian story."—Kyle Harper, author of The Fate of Rome: Climate, Disease, and the End of an Empire

"A brilliant, entertaining, and accessible account of the history of martyrdom, invaluable for anyone interested in understanding the Christian faith."—Bart D. Ehrman, author of Misquoting Jesus: The Story Behind Who Changed the Bible and Why

A cultural history of how Christianity was born from its martyrs.

Though it promises eternal life, Christianity was forged in death. Christianity is built upon the legacies of the apostles and martyrs who chose to die rather than renounce the name of their lord. In this innovative cultural history, Kyle Smith shows how a devotion to death has shaped Christianity for two thousand years.

For centuries, Christians have cared for their saints, curating their deaths as examples of holiness. Martyrs' stories, lurid legends of torture, have been told and retold, translated and rewritten. Martyrs' bones are alive in the world, relics pulsing with wonder. Martyrs' shrines are still visited by pilgrims, many in search of a miracle. Martyrs have even shaped the Christian conception of time, with each day of the year celebrating the death of a saint. From Roman antiquity to the present, by way of medieval England and the Protestant Reformation, Cult of the Dead tells the fascinating story of how the world's most widespread religion is steeped in the memory of its martyrs.

Kyle Smith is Associate Professor and Director of the History of Religions Program at the University of Toronto. An award-winning teacher, he is the author or coauthor of four other books about Christian saints and martyrs.
